Students can review the number of CLP Event credits they have received and the number of CLP Event credits they have remaining using Workday. They can also review the specific CLP events (by section number, title, and date of event) they have been awarded credit for in the current semester.

Check Remaining CLP Event Credits Needed

1. Log into Workday, hover over the Student button, and select Academics.

2. On the right-hand navigation list, find the header for Academic Advising, and select View My Academic Progress.

3. In the second table on this screen, click the Requirement column and select AR – Attend CLP events. (or scroll down through the table until you reach this section)

4. Once the filter is applied (or you've scrolled down), look at the Remaining column to see the number of events the student has left to attend and receive credit for.

Note: Most students are required to attend a total of 32 events, but that number may be reduced based on student circumstances, like being admitted as a transfer student, participating in a Furman travel study program, or graduating a semester early.*

Additional information:

Students should allow 5 business days after the conclusion of the CLP event (or the final event in the series if there are multiple instances of the event) for CLP data to be processed and credit awarded.

Students must present their Furman ID card prior to the start of the event to the CLP monitor on duty. The card must be scanned for the student to receive credit for attending an event.

Failure to follow this protocol may result in denial of CLP credit for an event. If a student does not have a functional Furman Student ID card, credit cannot be awarded for CLP attendance.

If a replacement ID is needed, students can request one through Enrollment Services' Identification Card Request page.

Concerns regarding the accuracy of event attendance records must be addressed no later than the last day of class of the term in which the event occurred.

For a complete list of expected conduct of students attending CLP events, students can visit Furman's Cultural Life Program webpage.

Questions can be directed to Enrollment Services at enroll@furman.edu.
