National Anthem

by Francis Scott Key

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming;
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Alma Mater

by Fred Lewis Pattee

For the glory of old State,
For her founders, strong and great,
For the future that we wait,
Raise the song, raise the song,

Sing our love and loyalty,
Sing our hopes that, bright and free,
Rest, O Mother dear, with thee.
All with thee, all with thee.

When we stood at childhood's gate,
Shapeless in the hands of fate,
Thou didst mold us, dear old State,
Dear old State, dear old State.

May no act of ours bring shame
To one heart that loves thy name,
May our lives but swell thy fame,
Dear old State, dear old State!

Dear Family and Friends,

Welcome to the Penn State Smeal College of Business Spring 2025 commencement ceremony!

Today we celebrate the remarkable achievements of the Class of 2025, a milestone made possible through the support and encouragement of family, friends, faculty, and trusted advisers. Their journey toward educational excellence and personal growth has involved resilience, adaptability, and determination—transitioning from virtual and hybrid learning to vibrant, in-person experiences. We are incredibly proud of the perseverance they've shown in navigating these challenges.

Today's ceremony not only marks the completion of their undergraduate education at Penn State Smeal but also symbolizes the exciting new opportunities awaiting these graduates as they apply their knowledge to build successful futures. As they turn their tassels today, they officially join the ranks of distinguished Penn State alumni.

With your continued guidance, love, and support, we know our graduates will enter their professional lives with honor, integrity, and the enduring values of Penn State. The Smeal College of Business remains dedicated to supporting our graduates through ongoing professional development and lifelong learning opportunities.

On behalf of Penn State and the Smeal College of Business, thank you for your invaluable role in the success of these extraordinary individuals.

Congratulations, Class of 2025!

Best regards,

Corey Phelps

John and Karen Arnold Dean, Penn State Smeal College of Business

Commencement Information

To Our Guests

Commencement, the solemn but joyful recognition of the graduates' years of study, is an important occasion to the University, its faculty, staff, and students. All guests and participants are requested to avoid unnecessary conversation or moving about during the exercises.

Only authorized press and University photographers are permitted on the floor to take pictures once the exercises are in progress.

When the processional party enters at the beginning of the ceremony, the audience rises. They remain standing until all members of the platform party have taken their places on the platform and during the singing of the National Anthem.

Following the singing of the Alma Mater, there is a recessional. The audience is requested to remain seated during this period.

We welcome you to the commencement exercises for baccalaureate degree candidates.

Academic Procession

The Mace, which symbolizes the President's authority, is carried at the head of the academic procession by a University Marshal. It was carved from a newel post saved from the original Old Main (which was rebuilt in 1929).

Academic Dress

Academic dress had its beginning in the Middle Ages. When the English universities were taking form in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, the scholars were also clerics and adopted robes similar to those of their monastic orders. Caps were a necessity in the drafty buildings, and capes with hoods attached were needed for warmth. The hood was selected by these early scholars as the article to be made distinctive for the various degrees by its color, trimming, and binding. As the universities gradually passed from the control of these ecclesiastics, costumes took on brighter hues.

The use of academic costume in the United States has been continuous since the colonial times.

A uniform system was not widespread, however, until about 1895 when the well-defined code of the Intercollegiate Commission was adopted by nearly all institutions of higher learning.

Gowns worn by those in the procession vary according to the degree held. Although the gown is more frequently black for academic degrees, certain universities have authorized the use of colored gowns. The academic gown has short or regular sleeves for the bachelor's degree, pointed sleeves for the master's degree, and round full sleeves for the doctor's degree. There are no trimmings on the bachelor's or master's gowns, but the doctor's gown is faced in the front with black velvet and has three bars of the same material across the sleeves. In some cases, the color of this velvet relates to the field in which the degree is granted.

Hoods are not usually worn by recipients of the bachelor's degree. The hood, the most distinctive feature of the American code, varies in length according to the type of degree held and is lined with the official colors of the institution conferring the degree. The velvet border or edging of the hood indicates the character of the degree it represents: blue – philosophy; light blue – education; brown – fine arts; blue violet – architecture; copper – economics; drab – business administration; golden yellow – science; green – medicine; sage green – physical education; orange – engineering; pink – music; russet – forestry; white – arts, letters, and humanities.

The cap is usually square and is the same for all degrees. The standard tassel is black, but the doctor's cap may have a gold tassel. The standard cap is the mortarboard, usually the color of the gown. Undergraduates wear the tassel on the right side of the cap until the moment the degree is conferred, and then it is transferred to the left side.

About Our Commencement Speaker

Lori Koch

CEO of DuPont

Lori holds a bachelor's degree in finance and international business from Penn State Smeal.

During her 20 years as a finance leader with DuPont, Lori demonstrated expertise across a broad spectrum of finance disciplines, as well as developing and executing the right financial strategy to support the achievement of the company's business objectives.

As CEO, Lori is responsible for overseeing the strategic direction of the company to accelerate growth, unlock value, advance innovation and drive operational and functional excellence.

Prior to her appointment as CEO in June 2024, Lori served as chief financial officer of DuPont, where she played a leading role in reshaping the company's portfolio for higher growth and profitability, driving operational discipline and implementing a balanced financial policy.

From November 2022 until being named CEO, she also led DuPont's corporate businesses, which are primarily focused on the fast-growing electric vehicle market. Before serving as CFO, Lori served as vice president of investor relations and corporate financial planning and analysis since June 2019. She joined the company in 2003.

Baccalaureate Degree Candidates

Program Notes

Scholastic Distinction: Distinction is conferred on graduates who have completed the required number of credits at the University and who are in the top 12 percent of their graduating class in their colleges. The 12 percent is divided into 2 percent "SUMMA CUM LAUDE," 4 percent "MAGNA CUM LAUDE," 6 percent "CUM LAUDE." Distinction are noted with numbers: 1 = Summa Cum Laude, 2 = Magna Cum Laude, 3 = Cum Laude.

Schreyer Scholars: The Schreyer Honors College selects students who exhibit the promise of fulfilling academic excellence with integrity, building a global perspective, and pursuing civic engagement and leadership. To graduate with honors, Schreyer Scholars must maintain a record of good academic standing, complete 35 credits of honors courses, and submit a thesis. Students graduating with honors are highlighted in bold print.

The Sapphire Leadership Academic Program: Selected for their academic excellence and leadership potential, Sapphire students demonstrate a commitment to student engagement and professional development both in and out of the classroom. Sapphire Leadership Program students are shown in blue.

Military Commission: Students who have satisfactorily completed the advanced course in military, naval, or air science may be granted commissions upon graduation. Military and air science graduates are commissioned as second lieutenants; naval science graduates may be commissioned as ensigns in the Navy or second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. Students granted Military Commissions are denoted with a ^.

PLEASE NOTE: This is an unofficial list of students who indicated an intent to graduate for the spring semester. The final list of graduates for the program was pulled on March 17, 2025. Students who indicated their intent to graduate after that date may not be listed.

Subject to completion of all degree requirements, degrees will be conferred as indicated upon the individuals listed herein and upon such others as may meet the requirements. Congratulations on your achievements!

About Penn State

Penn State, founded in 1855, is the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's sole land-grant institution and its largest public university. Penn State's land-grant mission embraces teaching, research, and public service to support the citizens of the Commonwealth, collaborating with industrial, educational, and agricultural partners to create, disseminate, integrate, and apply knowledge that is valuable to society.

Today, Penn State awards more associate, baccalaureate, and graduate degrees than any other institution in the Commonwealth. Graduates of the University join a family of more than 960,000 alumni. The Penn State Alumni Association—the largest dues-paying organization of its kind—helps Penn Staters stay connected with each other and the University through a network of more than 280 chapters and other affiliated groups in all 50 states and more than 40 foreign countries.

Visit psu.edu to learn more about Penn State.

Smeal College of Business History

Milton S. Eisenhower assumed the presidency of Penn State in 1950 with a simple mandate: build an institution that merits national recognition. The 1953 formation of an autonomous school of business, the offspring of the Commerce and Finance Department in Liberal Arts, was a step in that direction.

More than 70 years after its founding, Eisenhower's vision for the future has become reality in the Smeal College of Business. Over seven decades, the college has advanced steadily, earning a place among the national and international leaders of business education. Developments such as the introduction of the residential MBA Program in the late 1950s and the launch of Penn State Executive Programs—which helped solidify the college's partnerships with the business community—to an expanding portfolio of online and residential professional graduate programs signal Smeal's ongoing commitment to preparing graduates for what's ahead. Today, the college offers highly ranked undergraduate, graduate, doctoral, and executive education opportunities ranging from residential to online delivery to more than 6,000 students.

Smeal's connection to its own alumni base has also grown and flourished during its history. One of the most enduring alumni connections was forged in 1990 with the naming of the college for Mary Jean and Frank P. Smeal '42/'42, two of Penn State's most generous benefactors. Their contributions created five endowed chairs within the college as well as a separate endowment for program excellence.

The Smeal Alumni Network

With more than 94,000 Smeal alumni around the globe, our graduates are launching startups and leading Fortune 100 companies. From entry-level positions to c-suite executives, Smeal graduates take an innovative approach to business while holding to the highest ethical standards. The college encourages alumni to stay connected through communications and social media; to take advantage of events, affinity groups, and Alumni Career Services; and to consider volunteer and giving opportunities.
