

GULL

Gain Understanding as a Lifelong Learner

WEEK

We need your help ... Show us what you know!

As an SU Sea Gull, the courses you take help you Gain Understanding as a Lifelong Learner (GULL). Show your school spirit by demonstrating how much you have achieved related to SU's General Education Student Learning Goals, including:

- Essential Competencies
- Foundational Knowledge
- Personal, Social and Cultural Responsibility

The information gathered during GULL Week will be used by SU to demonstrate the skills and knowledge that SU students develop and to improve the General Education program. Your participation is needed and important to the University. Demonstrate your academic excellence and help make SU an even better university. Every student matters!

There are two ways you can participate in GULL Week. Choose the option that works best for you:

Option 1: Sign up for a traditional in-person GULL Week session in an SU computer lab. Sign up early to secure your spot on a day and time that are convenient for you.

OR

Option 2: Participate in GULL Week virtually. During GULL Week, you will have access to a GULL Week Canvas course. Follow the instructions in your GULL Week Canvas course to access and complete the assessments when it's convenient for you on your own device or in a University computer lab.

What's in it for you?

- Get extra credit! Many faculty offer extra credit or other incentives. Ask your instructors.
- Get an exclusive GULL Week t-shirt!
- Help your college or school win bragging rights! Recognition will be given to the college or school (College of Health and Human Services, Fulton, Henson, Perdue or Seidel) that has the highest percentage of its majors participating.

Monday-Monday, September 11-18, 2023

Participate in person or virtually.
