

Practices and Tools for Online Language and Culture Teaching

Middlebury

May 30th : 9-11am PST/12-2pm EST/6-8 pm CET/7-9pm EET

May 31st : 9-11:30am PST/12-2:30pm EST/6-8:30 pm CET/7-9:30 pm EET

Practical training from innovative language teachers across the Middlebury network!

Plenary Talk

Saturday, 9 PST/12 EST

“Strengthening relationships in distance learning: the role of assessment.”

Dr. Meg Malone

ACTFL Director of Assessment, Research and Development
Research Professor, Georgetown University

Some confirmed workshops:

- Timing’s Everything: How to integrate synchronous and asynchronous online pedagogies
- Distance makes the heart grow fonder: Building and sustaining community in the virtual classroom
- Language Teaching in Zoom
- Bringing insights from online STEM education into computer-assisted language learning
- 5 Tech Tools to enhance student learning in asynchronous online sessions
- Project-based learning using Thinglink
- Using Canvas to design interpretive communication activities
- Gamifying your Curriculum with H5P and Quizlet

Includes time for idea-sharing and discussion

Middlebury C.V. Starr
Schools Abroad

Middlebury
College

Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey

Middlebury Language
Schools

Free Registration!

All instructors welcome, regardless of experience level

Indicate your participation here to receive the Zoom links and passwords

<https://tinyurl.com/Middworkshop>

Participation is welcomed without registration.
All sessions will be made available for later viewing and access