INNOVATION REQUIRES COMMUNICATION

Innovative Communication Conference (ICC)

April 30 - May 2, 2024

Missouri University of Science & Technology
Havener Center, Carver/Turner Rooms

The Writing &
Communication Center
C.L. Wilson Library

About ICC

ICC's mission is to provide a platform that empowers graduate and undergraduate scholars to share their original research, creative projects, and ideas while promoting a culture of interdisciplinary collaboration. We strive to inspire intellectual growth, celebrate diverse voices, and cultivate a community where innovation and communication are at the forefront.

Event Highlights

ICC equips students with essential communication & collaboration skills while enriching their educational experience.

S&T STUDENT SHOWCASE

ICC is a student-run conference. We highlight innovative projects across all disciplines, and we showcase S&T's dynamic student communicators.

MULTIMODALITY

Because communication happens in a variety of forms, ICC showcases student work in panel presentations, poster sessions, and multimedia demonstrations.

IDEAS FOR THE FUTURE

ICC's presenters not only showcase innovative projects in science, engineering, and humanities; they also demonstrate clear and engaging communication of their ideas.

Student-Centered

ICC is a three-day conference organized for students by students. ICC's principal organizers are enrolled in the 2024 English and Technical Communication Capstone, ENGLISH 4290/TCH COM 4410.

April 30 Communicating Science & Engineering
Panels and poster sessions on innovative projects in science and engineering, concluding with a keynote.
