Feb. 4-7, 2027 | Irvine, CA

ssihi.uci.edu/nscc2027

About NSCC

Scientific research continues to affirm the powerful role of food choices and dietary supplements in supporting health, preventing disease, and managing symptoms. In fact, Americans now spend roughly $60 billion annually on self-prescribed herbal and dietary supplements—an urgent reminder of the need for trusted guidance in this space.

As healthcare professionals, we play a pivotal role in helping patients navigate the complexities of nutrition and supplementation. Our shared responsibility demands up-to-date, evidence-informed knowledge on efficacy, safety, dosing, regulation, and product quality.

NSCC brings together a world-class faculty of experts in integrative and functional medicine to offer practical, clinically relevant insights. Through engaging lectures, hands-on workshops, and dynamic panel discussions, you'll explore the latest research and clinical strategies across a wide range of conditions and populations—including chronic pain, menopause, long COVID, mitochondrial dysfunction, ADHD, neurodivergence, and thyroid disorders. Additional sessions will explore inclusive, weight-neutral care, global botanical traditions, environmental toxins, and the emerging role of AI and wearables in personalized nutrition.

Whether you're a seasoned clinician or just beginning to incorporate nutrition and supplementation into your practice, NSCC will equip you with the tools, frameworks, and confidence to make informed, individualized recommendations that advance patient health.

About Susan Samueli Integrative Health Institute

The UC Irvine Susan Samueli Integrative Health Institute, part of UCI Health, is the nation's largest inpatient and outpatient academic integrative health program. In partnership with the UC Irvine Susan & Henry Samueli College of Health Sciences and UCI Health, the Samueli Institute is advancing a model of healthcare rooted in an interdisciplinary, evidence-informed, whole-person approach to health and wellness. The institute delivers personalized, patient-centered integrative healthcare to over 113,000 people across the region each year. Research conducted at the institute is expanding the evidence base for integrative medicine. By conducting rigorous research, delivering comprehensive integrative treatments, educating current and future healthcare professionals, and offering inclusive community services, the Samueli institute is driving meaningful change in how whole-person health is understood, taught and practiced.

Nutrition & Supplementation in Clinical Care

Feb. 4-7, 2027 | Irvine, CA

ssihi.uci.edu/nscc2027

Highlights

- Review the latest scientific evidence on nutrition and supplementation with direct application to clinical care.
- Participate in full-day interactive workshops designed to strengthen practical clinical skills.
- Connect with practitioners who are advancing patient care through innovative, evidence-based approaches.

Educational Objectives

After attending this live activity, participants should be able to:

- Recognize the potential role of supplements in preventive medicine and in the management of common medical conditions.
- Judge the regulatory aspects of the supplement industry and their implications for clinical and research practice.
- Discuss current research and literature related to natural supplements.
- Examine through evidence-based summaries, key supplements used in clinical practice including their indications, side effects, interactions and contraindications.
- Formulate a patient care treatment program that integrates supplements in preventive medicine and in the management of common medical conditions.
- Access and/or recommend resources for acquiring additional supplement-related information for the clinician or patient.
- Increase proper supplement usage by involving the patient as an active partner in care, with an emphasis on patient education, acceptance and compliance.
- Incorporate nutritional information into clinical practice and advise patients about eating for optimum health as well as using dietary change as a therapeutic intervention.
- Evaluate the benefits and risks of nutritional recommendations for specific health conditions through an analysis of the existing scientific and clinical evidence.

Target Audience – Who Will Attend

This course is intended for any healthcare professional who makes nutritional recommendations or manages dietary supplement use. Leaders and decision makers, high-level medical professionals.

While UC Irvine SSIHI makes every effort to promote and encourage attendees to visit the Exhibit Hall, we cannot guarantee booth traffic. It is the exhibiting company's responsibility to promote its presence at the course through pre-meeting notifications and on-site promotions to draw traffic to their booth.

CME Guidelines Related to Educational Grants, Exhibit Space and Promotional Activities

In compliance with the ACCME Standards for Integrity and Independence in Accredited Continuing Education, arrangements for commercial exhibits or advertisements cannot influence planning or interfere with the presentation, nor can they be a condition of the provision of commercial support for CME activities.

- Representatives will wear program-issued name tags at all times.
- Exhibit and other promotional fees shall be separate and distinct from educational grants/commercial support.
- All exhibitors must be in a room or area separate from the education, and the exhibits must not interfere or in any way compete with the learning experience prior to, during, or immediately after the activity.
- Company representatives must refrain from holding any commercial discussions in the educational ballroom. All promotional activities, including interviews, demonstrations, and the distribution of literature or samples, must be made within the exhibitor's space. Canvassing or distributing promotional materials outside the exhibitor's rented exhibit space is not permitted.
- Commercial interest representatives may attend CME activities at the discretion of UC Irvine SSIHI for the direct purpose of the representatives' own education. However, they may not engage in sales or marketing activities while in the space or place of the educational activity.
- Conference tote bags are distributed to every registered attendee. Items provided must comply with UCOP policy Z438-20161110151832. All costs associated with insert including shipping and handling are the providing company's responsibility.

Exhibit + Sponsorship Conditions, Rules and Regulations

Exhibit space must be occupied by 7 a.m. on Friday, February 5, 2027. Failure to meet this deadline will cause forfeiture of your space. UC Irvine SSIHI may use or reassign the space without a refund. Exhibitors who anticipate delays must notify UC Irvine SSIHI. Representatives will always wear program-issued name tags.

Exhibits must adhere, in each case in the determination of UC Irvine SSIHI in its sole discretion, to each of the following standards:

- Exhibitor must promote the marketing of products and services that relate to the educational activity content.
- Exhibitor may encourage or advance its own products, equipment or services; however, Exhibitor shall not unfairly criticize the products or methods of any other exhibitor.
- Exhibitor shall not infringe the copyrights, trademarks or other intellectual property rights of any third party or unfairly compete with other exhibits.
- Exhibitor's exhibit shall not have an undesirable or unreasonable deleterious effect upon another exhibit or the educational activity.
- UC Irvine SSIHI reserves the right to prohibit or remove any exhibit which detracts from the general character of the Exhibition as a whole or consists of products or services inconsistent with the purpose of the Exhibition. The right to prohibit or remove includes, but is not limited to, such persons, things, conduct, printed matter or anything else of a character which UC Irvine SSIHI deems objectionable.
- UC Irvine SSIHI reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to refuse any person, including without limitation any employee of Exhibitor, admission to the Exhibition.
- UC Irvine SSIHI accepts no responsibility for breakdown or failure of any of the services provided for, or in connection with, the Exhibition.

Printed Material Distribution/Canvassing

Canvassing any part of the facilities utilized during the UC Irvine SSIHI CME program is strictly forbidden, and anyone doing so will be requested to leave the building. Distribution of advertising or printed material by the exhibitor outside of the exhibitor's allotted space will not be permitted unless the distribution or advertising is agreed in advance with UC Irvine SSIHI.
