Art Museum and Medical School Partnerships

June 8 and 9, 2016

The Art of Examination: Art Museum and Medical School Partnerships brings together 130 art museum and medical school professionals to share information about programs, research and evaluation, and partnerships that engage medical students, interns, residents, and fellows. These programs use works of art to develop observation, interpretative, empathic, and collaborative thinking skills to enhance clinical diagnosis and practice.

The Forum Goals

- Explore the value of engaging art museums in programs with medical schools to deepen awareness of looking closely, responding creatively and thoughtfully to works of art and relating these to clinical practice.
- Connect with a network of collaborators and their diverse practices.
- Identify opportunities to strengthen collaborations and translate ideas into actions by advocating for future partnerships between museums and medical schools.

The Forum includes panels and small group discussions on the variety of program formats and approaches to teaching, research and evaluation, and the development of partnerships between art museums and medical schools. Teaching demonstration tours are presented at The Frick Collection, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and The Museum of Modern Art.

The Art of Examination: Art Museum and Medical School Partnerships is organized by Bonnie Pitman, Distinguished Scholar in Residence at The Edith O'Donnell Institute of Art History, The University of Texas at Dallas. The Forum is sponsored by The Edith O'Donnell Institute of Art History at UT Dallas.

The Forum is hosted by The Department of Education, The Museum of Modern Art with special thanks to Wendy Woon, The Edward John Noble Foundation Deputy Director for Education at MoMA and her creative and engaged team. Dr. Joel T. Katz, Director of the internal medicine residency and the Marshall A. Wolf Distinguished Chair in Medical Education at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard Medical School provided invaluable guidance for the development of the Forum program. Rika Burnham at The Frick Collection, Rebecca McGinnis at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Carrie McGee at The Museum of Modern Art arranged the teaching demonstration tours. The Forum benefitted from the participation of many others who generously offered wise and innovative counsel. We are deeply grateful to all the participants for attending and sharing their work with their colleagues to advance this field of knowledge and research.

Thank you for joining us. We hope that the dynamic and thoughtful discussions will lead to new possibilities.

Keynote Speaker

Alexandra Horowitz

Author and adjunct associate professor at Barnard College, Columbia University

Horowitz discusses the project that led to her book, On Looking, an investigation into learning to see details -- trifles -- that most of us have stopped seeing. By taking dozens of walks around "ordinary" city blocks with experts on varying subjects, she and her companions consider the block -- the street and everything on it -- as a living being that could be examined, diagnosed, and seen anew. The result of these walks was tangible: they changed not just what she did see, but what she could see.
