Celebrating Black History Month

Black History Month is an important time to reflect on the rich history and legacy of Black Americans, particularly in the field of law. As a pre-law student, educating yourself on the challenges and triumphs of Black legal pioneers who paved the way for future generations is crucial. By doing so, you can gain a deeper appreciation for the diversity of thought and experiences that shape our legal system and a clearer understanding of the ongoing struggle for justice and equality. Let this month be an opportunity to broaden your perspectives, engage in meaningful discussions, and take action to support and uplift the Black community.

The ABA Diversity and Inclusion Advisory Council announced its involvement in the "21-Day Racial Equity Habit-Building Challenge ©." We invite all pre-law students to join the challenge created by diversity expert Eddie Moore, Jr. to increase awareness of the complex relationships between race, power, privilege, supremacy, and oppression. We encourage pre-law students to expand their understanding and actively build habits toward promoting racial equity by using the concept as an educational tool for themselves and when engaging with others.

INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

According to the National Associate of Colleges & Employers (NACE), an internship is a form of experiential learning that integrates knowledge and theory learned in the classroom with practical application and skills development in a professional setting.

Every month this section will feature great opportunities for students to gain hands-on experience and explore areas of practice in legal and legal adjacent fields.
National Student Leadership Conference

NSLC will host its Law & Advocacy Program (9-day) and its Law Intensive Program (18-day), both of which are conferences that expose talented high school students to the vast world of law. Under the guidance of their Team Advisors, students will get hands-on experience with courtroom techniques & legal practices. The NSLC on Law & Advocacy & on Law Intensive is hiring Team Advisors and Assistant Team Advisors.

Because of Her Story Cohort Internship

American Women’s History Initiative 2023 Because of Her Story Cohort Internship

The application will close when the system receives 400 applicants or 9:00 am ET on February 13, 2023, whichever comes first. Apply early!

TIP OF THE MONTH

As you devise an application strategy for your law school application cycle, you can quickly become overwhelmed by the number of tasks and deadlines you need to keep track of. We recommend using an application tracking spreadsheet to stay organized and on top of everything; whether you prefer a digital tool or a handwritten system, having a straightforward way to keep track of your law school interests can help you stay focused and avoid stress.
