Bloomberg Common Commands

Bloomberg has tens of thousands of commands. This guide lists most commonly used commands in Bloomberg and gets you started with Bloomberg.

Analyst Recommendations - ANR Use ANR to display a list of analysts' recommendations, price targets, price target time periods, and a consensus rating for a selected equity. The consensus rating is based on analyst recommendations and compiled by Bloomberg reporters and researchers around the world. ANR allows you to determine the latest analyst sentiment and identify which analysts have the most accurate equity ratings. You can also create/edit an analyst recommendation alert. To use, enter {ticker symbol} {exchange code} <EQUITY> ANR<ENTER> For example, to find the Analyst Recommendations for Goldman Sachs Group, type "GS US <EQUITY> ANR<ENTER>" without the quotes.

Beta - BETA Use BETA to graph and display the historical sensitivity of a selected equity compared to a broad based market index. You can use BETA to help determine equity's risk level. You can change the periodicity and time range. To use, choose an equity, then type BETA<ENTER> For example, to find the Beta for Goldman Sachs Group, enter "GS US <EQUITY> BETA <ENTER>" without the quotes.

Weighted Average Cost of Capital – WACC Use WACC to display capital structure, theoretical weighted average cost of capital, economic value added, return on invested capital (ROIC) and economic value added spread (EVA Spread) for a selected company. You can customize default assumptions and data underlying the calculations to assist you in your analysis. To use, choose an equity, then type WACC<ENTER>

For example, to find the WACC for Goldman Sachs Group, enter "GS US <EQUITY> WACC <ENTER>" without the quotes.
